Courchevel Ski Resort is located in the French Alps Savoie region home to the fabulous Trois Vallees and offers exceptional skiing across a very expansive area. From its off-piste adventures to its glitzy slopeside bars and Michelin-starred restaurants, the French ski resort remains the most glamorous in the world. MASSIVE would be an understatement to describe the size of the total ski area, and were only just getting started.

COURCHEVEL FIVE STAR MICHELIN SKIING AT ITS BEST

The WORLDS LARGEST

Courchevel 1850 is France's premier ski resort and with good reason as it boasts what is probably the world's best all round skiing. From beginner slopes to World Class Extreme Free Ride Courchevel has the ski terrain to keep everyone well entertained, well fed and extremely Happy.

Gateway to The Three Valleys. The skiing is mind-bogglingly BIG here and to really ski the whole area would take years. Given that so much terrain is almost gratuitous for a week's skiing, perhaps the more important things are the exposure and the variety of pitch. The slopes are predominantly North facing meaning that the snow in Courchevel stays in great condition. Lower slopes around the chalets and hotels principally comprise of confidence building green and blue runs below tree-line. The further up the mountain the steeper it gets. Wide open runs perfect for huge carving turns are topped with steep mogul runs and narrow couloirs to challenge the most expert skiers. The variety of terrain is endless and the views are picture postcard gorgeous no matter where you are in the resort, this is the FRENCH ALPS.
